

The main activity of our company involves hydrogeological search to detect significant water reserves.

Key priority of our company is the search for groundwater deposits especially at great depths, which can be used for irrigation or water supply purposes.

This section presents the services that the company Subsystem single membered Ltd offers as well as the fields of action regarding research.

